Manager Will Name Building Committee

BERBERIAN NAMED TO SCHOOL POST

John Berberian, 259 Lowell st., has been appointed as supervisor of general services in the school department.

His selection was unanimous, at Tuesday's meeting, after the Committee received Supt. Edward I. Erickson's recommendation for his appointment.

Mr. Berberian, 37, holds his B. S. and M.B.S. from Northeastern University; was assistant purchasing agent at Tyer Rubber Co. for several years, and also served that firm as junior industrial engineer. The new position is essentially concerned with business affairs in the department. It pays $8,000 annually.

Appointment of a temporary building committee is the next step in obtaining plans for school construction.

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff told the School Committee Tuesday night that a committee will be appointed immediately.

It is to this group that detailed educational specifications and academic requirements shall be provided, the Committee learned.

In a harmonious session lasting well over an hour, Mr. Duff indicated that he is well aware of the veto power over school plans held by the Committee.

Suggesting that agreement among all major boards of the town will be needed, for adequate presentation at town meeting, Duff also noted that the building committee must be aware that any plans it prepares have to meet School Committee approval.

Thus, he told the members, if a new senior high school is the final decision of the Committee, the

Bolivian Girl Is Guest Here

The Kenneth Holmes Family is having a jolly time this week, entertaining a Bolivian girl who speaks little or no English.

Miss Roxanna Peredo of Santa Cruz, Bolivia, will live here for six months, under a Rotary Club plan to give several Bolivian girls a chance to learn English. Ten young ladies made the trip to New England from Bolivia.

A graduate of a Catholic high school in her native city, Miss Peredo hopes to learn English sufficiently well to become a bilingual secretary at home. There are many American business interests in her native land.

Five of the young ladies are living in the Keene, N. H., area;

Erickson Willing To Buy Supplies For Departments

School Supt. Edward I. Erickson wouldn't object at all to purchasing supplies - commonly used by all town departments - for the rest of the town agencies, on a bulk basis.

Moreover, he believes the school department can buy at lower prices, in many cases, than can any other department. In response to a query from the Townsman, Mr. Erickson said he could see no reason why the school department should not include the needs of the entire town in its estimate of quantities needed; then other departments could get their supplies from the vendor at the same price.

Mr. Erickson spoke especially of paper towels, toilet tissues, building maintenance items - all used in great quantity by the schools and to a lesser degree by other departments.

He can see no advantage to having the town government buy scholar's supplies for the school department, because he believes the best price is now being obtained. These items, according to Mr. Erickson are not used in common with other departments, thus requisitioning them via the town manager would result only in more paper work and delays for transmission of orders.

Mr. Erickson's comments came after a report had been issued by a sub-committee of the Charter

Welfare Dept. Needs $15,000

The Welfare Department is seeking a $15,000 transfer from the reserve fund.

Director Paul MacMillan has notified the Finance Committee that medical and disability assistance cases, and costs, have risen.

Other reasons for the expenditures include the five percent cost of living increase, the leisure time allowance for those under the old age pensions, and increasing hospital and medical charges.

One-half of the $15,000 will be reimbursed by the state, accord-

New Income Needed — Duff

Town Manager Thomas E. Duff is pinning his hopes for capital expenditures, particularly in the building line, on additional revenue from new buildings in the town.

In a frank approach to the 1964 financial outlook, Duff told the Selectmen Monday night that only the revenue from new construction can offset a sizable increase in the rate.

The Finance Committee has already stated that over $2 will be added in 1964, based on 1963 appropriations which will continue in ing to Mr. MacMillan. However, this amount eventually goes into free cash, and is not available for the department.

If the transfer is granted, a balance in the reserve fund of close to $7,000 will be left. The fund originally started with $35,000 and various transfers have brought this down to slightly in excess of $22,000.

The School Committee, which also has been seeking a transfer to pay for a boiler at the Shawsheen School, to replace one that broke down, is awaiting the outcome of FinCom action on the Welfare request. The Committee has been told that there may not be enough in the fund to pay for the boiler, estimated at $10,000.

Forum V Gets License

An entertainment license has been issued for Forum V, on Essex st., by a 3-2 vote of the Selectmen.

Favoring the license were Chairman James D. Wilson, and Selectmen Philip K. Allen and Paul W. Cronin.

Voting in opposition were Selectmen Robert A. Watters and William Stewart.

Those favoring the license commented that it could be revoked if necessary; and that there have been no complaints about the establishment, which has had a voluntary type of entertainment to date.

Nancy V. Mundy and Eleanor P. Hoag, who operate the establishment, said it is planned to have folk singing.

In opposition, Selectman Stewart commented "It sounds more like a club to me".

Selectman Paul W. Cronin told the Board he has checked with police and finds that no complaints have been heard about the manner in which the establishment is operated; he commented that coffee houses are now the "fad" among high school and college students.

Selectman Philip K. Allen described the type of place, and entertainment offered, as "Wholesome", in voting for the license.

Special Education Is Meeting Topic

A vital program on special education will be presented next Wednesday evening by the Central PTA.

Because of the importance of the talk, and a panel discussion, all other PTA's in the town have been invited. And in addition, any interested resident will be welcome at the 8 p.m. meeting, in Central auditorium.

Philip Cashman, director of special education for the state Department of Education, will be the main speaker. Panel members have been drawn from the staff of the state agency.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 with classroom visitations.

Youth Center Survey Planned

The Andover Youth Center Board of Directors and the Andona Society, in their efforts to better serve the town, are planning a two-part survey of the community.

One section of the survey will be run with the cooperation of the school department. Students in the ninth and 10th grades will be asked to answer questions that will pertain to their free time activities, study habits, church activities, clubs, hobbies, jobs, youth center activities, and recreational facilities which they would like to see in Andover.

The second part of the survey will be questions put to the parents of the Youth Center members. This will be an attempt to find out what parents feel about the present programs and their effectiveness, also their ideas for extended services and facilities.

The Youth Center has served Andover continuously for 70 years and has always been a force for service in the community. As the town changes and grows, the Youth Center Board of Directors, friends and staff, feel that services to youth should also grow.

Cooperation Urged At Joint Meeting

The closest kind of cooperation will be required between the School Committee, Town Manager Thomas E. Duff, the Board of Selectmen and the Finance Committee.

That was the consensus of opinion, following last week's meeting of those boards to hear about the proposed new high school.

Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien, in a lengthy ruling, said the town manager is responsible for preparation of plans, submitting the article to town meeting, and supervising construction.

However, he has ruled that the School Committee must approve plans prepared by the manager - that a "veto power" exists.

The assembled officials were in general agreement that only close cooperation can prevent confusion and delay.

The importance of presenting an article to town meeting in March was emphasized by School Committee Chairman Dr. Milton J. Meyers. He predicted double sessions in the high or junior high, or possibly both, if the construction project is delayed beyond the March town meeting. This could occur as early as 1965, and certainly by 1966, he asserted.

School population figures were presented to the meeting, showing the need for new construction. Full details on this item will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Also under consideration was the work currently being done by the School Committee.

Architect Frank Crimp defined the work he is doing as that which is necessary before any sort of working drawings are started. It is not the preparation of plans, as understood by most people, he explained.

BOLIVIAN GIRL IS LOCAL VISITOR

Ken Holmes, a member of the Finance Committee locally, describes the scene at home as a "panic", as the family attempts to communicate with their young guest.

Most overworked of all the books in their home is the Spanish-American dictionary, of course.

Despite language barriers, Miss Peredo is relaxed and charming, seeming not to mind the difficulties in understanding.

She enjoys riding, and has already been out on the trails with Ken's daughter, Susan.

As soon as she learns English, the Rotary plan calls for Miss Peredo and the other girls to work, for trial periods, in American offices, to become familiar with our procedures.

Defines Duties For Committee

The Recreation Committee has five areas of responsibility, according to a definition of the Committee's duties offered by Town Manager Thomas E. Duff.

In priority listing, he started with "liaison" - interpretation of the department's activities to the public and enlistment of support from school officials, businesses and organizations within the town.

Secondly, the Committee can act as "listening posts", bringing in reports on what the public expects in a recreation program.

The other steps involved development of programs, aid in drawing up budgets and planning for Andover Recreation Park.

The Committee had sought an interpretation of its duties, because under the manager charter, the group has no authority. The recreation director, Leslie S. Bartow, is responsible to the manager under the present form of government.

Discussion of a budget for 1964 occupied much of the Committee's time Monday night. There was talk of requesting a truck for the department; it is also contemplated that a full-time maintenance man will be needed.

The Recreation Council - a private group of citizens - was represented at the meeting. The group offered fund-raising help for the Recreation Park. But President Robert McIntyre insisted that assurance be given that buildings there will be properly maintained.

Last Game For League

The Shawsheen Patriots and the Ballardvale Browns chalked up wins in Andover Junior Football League play Sunday.

The Patriots beat the Central Colts 6-0 to preserve their slim league lead over the Browns. The only score in the hard-fought defensive battle came midway in the second period when Bob McKinnon plunged over from the one yard line. Marc Goulet set up the tally with a 12 yard end run. Shawn Mason played an outstanding game in the line for the Colts and was helped on several key tackles by Doug Grange. The Patriots were aided by the fine play of Kenny Rousselle and Tim Harding.

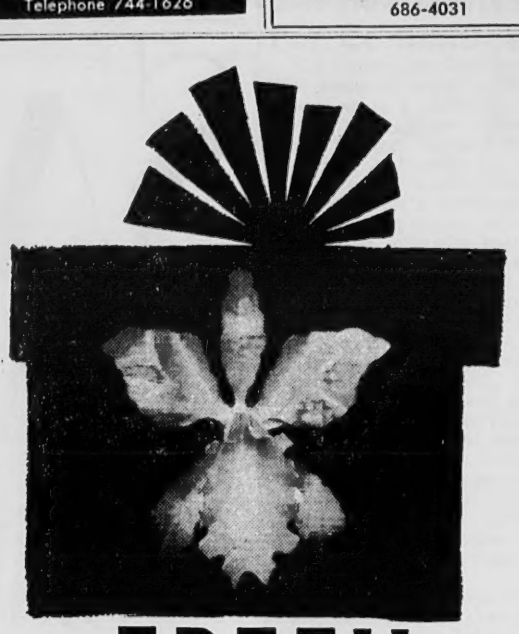

The Indian Ridge Packers held the favored Ballardvale Browns scoreless until the end of the third period when Kevin Burke scored from 5 yards out. Steve Gessing passed 7 yards to Dick Hatch for another Brown touchdown and Bruce Dyke picked up an extra point. The final score favored the Browns 13 to 0. Savinelli, Dick Roy and Don Pattullo stood out for the Packers while Dick Hatch turned in another outstanding effort for the Browns.

Junior League play will be concluded next Sunday at the Playstead with the Packers paired off against the Patriots and the Browns against the Colts. Current standings find the Patriots leading the league with 3 wins, no losses and 2 ties. The Browns are in second place with a 2-1-2 record. Next come the Colts with 3 wins and 2 losses, and then the improving Packers with an 0-5 record.

Large Group Heard Tony Romeo Speak

A ne r capacity crowd of young people met in Andover Baptist Church last Sunday evening to hear Tony Romeo, star right end of the Boston Patriots.

Under the talented song leader-ship of Johnny Weliczko, the youth were encouraged to raise their voices in hymn and chorus. Johnny was assisted by Scott Bartchy at the piano and David Weaver at the organ. Mrs. Romeo beautifully rendered the favorite solo, "His Eye Is On The Sparrow" and Johnny Weliczko also lent his solo voice to the program.

Before his address, Tony showed a football film, the projector being operated by Bruce Weaver, Mitchell Skinner and Bill Whisnant. He photographed the audience in various attitudes. Sue Bennett efficiently directed her committee on refreshments and made sure there was plenty of food on hand to satisfy the hungry group who remained for this period of fellowship and fun.

The Baptist Youth Fellowship, of which Roger Jackson is president, was greatly encouraged by the co-operation of other youth groups of Andover and would express appreciation to all of the youth directors and pastors for encouraging their people to participate.

Town Committee Endorses Petition

John M. Quinlan, executive director of the Council for Constitutional Reform in Massachusetts, Inc., spoke to a small but interested group of members of the Andover Town Republican Committee and their guests, Oct. 2.

He explained the reasons for the formation of this group and stressed its non-partisanship. Many forward-looking citizens regardless of political party have signified their support.

Some of the most frequently proposed amendments are: to elect the governor for a four year term instead of the present two, to elect the governor and lt-governor on the same ticket, and to reduce the power of the Executive Council.

Aug. 7, a group of prominent citizens, including Christian A. Herter, Elliot Richardson, and Paul Menton filed, on behalf of the Council, an initiative petition to place the question of a limited constitutional convention on the November, 1966, ballot. The aim is to let the people decide whether there is a need for this convention to promote economy and efficiency in Massachusetts government.

The Town Committee went on record as endorsing this initiative petition. Fred Flather, captain of Precinct 6, is the coordinator and should be contacted by anyone interested in signing it.

The projected school enrollment through 1970, as shown in the chart, has been furnished to the School Committee by Louis Warlick, an experienced statistician.

Mr. Warlick spoke at the meeting last week of concerned town officials, and described some of the methods used in compiling the prognostication.

He also indicated that the figures tend to be minimum.

Mr. Warlick indicated that the junior high enrollment in 1970 according to his up-to-date estimates will range from 1,303 to 1,400. The high school will then be housing between 980 to 1,100.

Mr. Warlick explained that statistical forecasting beyond 197 becomes more of a guess, with the margin of error growing as years are added to the period under consideration.

School Committee member Joh S. Sullivan noted that school population estimates by the state Department of Education have been exceeded in 1963. Those figures place the 1970 enrollment at 1,31 in the junior high and 1,156 senior high.

Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erick son told the gathering that the rapid school growth here has occurred in the last 10 years.

Twenty years ago, the system was staffed by 75 teachers with 1,300 pupils; 10 years ago, there were 105 teachers and 2,200 pupils at present, the system includes 205 teachers and 4,200 students. EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

One Issue Is Foremost

That much-publicized meeting of town officials was held last week, and while some items concerning the new school were clarified, it seems that others remain uncertain.

Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien ruled that the School Committee has virtual veto power over any school plans prepared by and for the town manager.

All hands promised cooperation, so that no veto will be necessary.

But in one specific area, there seems to be a question.

Dr. Milton J. Meyers, speaking for the School Committee, said there is little likelihood that the Committee will change its mind in terms of building a new high school. What happens if other town officials, particularly the manager, decide that an addition is desirable?

In effect, we believe that the School Committee has the authority to establish what the town will build; the manager has the responsibility for securing plans and supervising construction.

Hopefully, there will be no discord among town officials.

But experience tells us that this is only a faint hope; there are many determined men in our town government, who are not easily persuaded to change their minds.

Let's hope that, in any resulting debate, the townspeople do not forget that they — as voters — have the legal and moral responsibility to provide adequate housing for the pupils, of today and of the future. Sometimes such basic points become lost in arguments over less vital details.

Change It Or Obey It

It seems quite obvious that substantial changes in the town charter are necessary, or that current practices must be abandoned and others adopted, in order to abide by present charter requirements.

The virtual absence of central purchasing — a bulwark among pro-manager arguments a few years ago — demands that procedures be changed or that the charter be rewritten.

It is also clear that the responsibility for school construction and planning should be clarified.

We do not attempt here to define the changes, or to suggest specific wording for the clarifications.

But these must obviously be accomplished.

It is interesting to note that sub-committees of the Charter Study Committee are finding little change, in department operations, from the procedures used before the charter was adopted.

This, in itself, is food for thought, when examining the arguments listed for the charter when it was under consideration. Those points are listed again on this page, for the purpose of clarification for all voters.

Down the Years with The Townsman

75 Years Ago - November, 1888

The Rev. Frederic Palmer, who has been in this town seven months, voted Tuesday in the election, but later in the day asked that his ballot be thrown out as he discovered that the Board of Registrars should not have allowed him to vote, as he has not been in the state the required one year. He claims that Cleveland's total, registered at 311, should only be 310. A total of 938 votes was recorded, the highest ever tallied here. Harrison led Cleveland, with 607 votes.

Hartwell B. Abbott's home was entered Monday and about $300 taken from his coat pocket.

Two lots of the Hazen estate on Main st. have been sold, one to Joseph A. Smart and the other to O. Chapman.

Marcus M. Hill of Providence has been in town this week.

In order to give the people of Andover election news as rapidly as possible, Boston papers were delivered here by special train about 5 a.m.

50 Years Ago - November, 1913

The main axle of the steam roller belonging to the street department broke down one day this week as the machine was going down Essex st. towards Abbott Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Manning spent Friday in Boston attending the performance of "The Whip" at Boston Theatre.

Mrs. B. M. Allen and Mrs. Colver J. Stone have been visiting the former's son, Winthrop H. Allen, at Yale College.

John Saunders of Highland rd. received the congratulations of his friends last week on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

25 Years Ago - November, 1938

Joy for the Republican party and grief for the Selectmen was the result of Tuesday's heavy - 88.8% - vote. Right down the ticket, the town went Republican. But the unusual division of opinion on the liquor questions brings plenty of grief for the Selectmen. By a 190 vote margin, the town threw out licenses for drinking hard liquor on the premises, but by an 80 vote margin approved selling soft drinks - beer and wine - on the premises. The margin in favor of package stores was over 1,300. The Selectmen now have to pick up at least eight licenses and redistribute those for the sale of soft drinks.

The annual Methuen-Punchard football game will be played here Armistice Day.

Andover's little theatre group, the Adventurers, is starting its third season, and seems well underway towards another good year.

The annual Red Cross membership roll call starts tomorrow and ends Thanksgiving Day. The goal this year is $5,000.

10 Years Ago - November, 1953

Selectman Roy E. Hardy has announced that he will not be a candidate for any office next March. He has held elected offices here for 18 years, and has been chairman of the Selectmen and Assessors since 1941.

Mercury vapor lights will be installed on Main st., vastly improving the nighttime visibility.

The state has paid its first two payments, via the Building Assistance Commission, for the construction of the Central and West schools.

A big parade was the highlight of Halloween, and hundreds of children romped through the streets dressed as all kinds of strange creatures.

The Greater Lawrence Community Chest is at the half-way mark in the area, but in Andover so far, the results are much less. Only 39 percent of the local goal has been subscribed to date - a total of $9,334 out of a hoped-for $24,053.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR FRANK BENTON

A memorial service for Frank May Benton, for 40 years an instructor at Phillips Academy, and subsequently at Groton and Hotchkiss, is to be held at the Cochran Chapel, Sunday, Nov. 10, at 2:30 p.m.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. A. Graham Baldwin and Headmaster John M. Kemper of Andover, Headmaster John Crocker of Groton, and Headmaster Albert William Olsen of Hotchkiss.

Reasons For Adopting Town Manager Plan

The following nine reasons were cited, in a report of the Town Government Study Committee, for adoption of the town manager plan.

1. It places the administration of the Town's affairs in the hands of a full-time executive who is trained and experienced in the management of municipal business.

2. It makes possible operating economies through central purchasing of supplies and the pooling of personnel and equipment.

3. It eliminates competition between boards for Town appropriation and bases requests for appropriations on the overall needs of the Town.

4. It makes possible better coordination of Town activities and an over-all program for future development.

5. It frees the selectmen from the details of administration and allows them to devote their time and efforts to policy decisions.

6. It provides the voters with more convenient access to the Town Government and assures them of more immediate action on their problems.

7. It improves the morale of employees of the Town by assuring them of impartial treatment and equal consideration.

8. It speeds up the preparation of the Town Budget, simplifies its presentation, and makes possible more thorough study by the Selectmen and the Finance Committee before Town Meeting.

9. It does away with costly delays which are unavoidable when day-to-day decisions are dependent on committee action.

Defending the purchasing committee, which indicated that purchasing does not always result in terms of the town manager purchasing for the school department.

Mr. Erickson defended the practice of sometimes accepting prices, instead of awarding bids, Mr. Erickson said that quality control is possible when this is done.

He explained that calling for bids sometimes seems to invite poor quality, in order to keep bids down. On the other hand, he said, it is possible to get a price as low as that obtainable while retaining the ability to make a change if quality begins to decrease.

Major items - paper goods and the like - go out on bids anyway, he explained. But some goods - typewriters being one example - are purchased after prices are obtained, and the wax is actually used to determine whether it will meet department standards.

Even in the purchase of equipment, the superintendent feels the school department can be helpful to town government. Typewriters, adding machines and other office supplies - even paper goods used in offices such as carbon paper are bought by the school department at a less expensive rate than is available to the rest of the town.

WILL APPOINT BUILDING COMMITTEE

Building Committee will work along that line.

But, he explained, the financial affairs of the town will have to be examined by all boards, to determine whether - after plans and cost estimates are ready - the town can afford what is being planned.

In this area, he cordially suggested that the School Committee might retain some flexibility in its thinking.

Also discussed Tuesday night were specific items within the proposed new school.

At least three members of the School Committee don't believe a swimming pool should be included, although this would be "nice" to have. Members Vincent P. Davey and John S. Sullivan, with Chairman Dr. Milton J. Meyers, were agreed on this point.

Mrs. Barbara Moody, while agreeing that the pool takes lower priority than some other items, wants to hear more about costs before making a decision.

Member William Doherty favors the pool, and also suggests planning a skating rink for the project.

He actually wants to include any planned facility that will be constructed by the town in the next decade, to take advantage of the 40 percent state assistance.

There was general agreement that the pool, the size of an auditorium and other features of the structure will have to be discussed with the Building Committee at a later date.

Thus there was no decision on either major item.

NEW REVENUE NEEDED BY TOWN

larger amounts in the [illegible] year.

To this, Duff added a possible increase of $2-3 for new construction.

And when he came up with the possible $5-6 rate increase he termed it "prohibitive".

Actually, the manager is not "hopeful" that new construction will bring in enough revenue to cut the built-in tax increase in half - down to about $1 or [illegible].

If this happens, the town will be able to afford some of the capital expenditures planned for 1964, the manager stated.

He listed, for the School Committee, several projects which will be placed on a capital expenditure schedule: new town facilities, offices, police and fire department; addition to Memorial Library, the use of this [illegible] increasing in direct relation with the growth in school population; new town garage; fire station in West Andover.

The latter structure - planned for some time - was originally in the schedule for 1964. But the manager says it will be [illegible] three or four years before construction is planned.

Selectman Paul W. Cronin spoke about the station, for the benefit of residents of the area.

It was reported that the Acquisition Committee is looking at a site for the station, on the corner of Chandler and Groton rds.

lectmen Powerless nder Sunday Law

Sunday licenses for the sale of d no longer come within the lectmen's authority.

In fact, a state law governing sort of license has been in fect since autumn of 1962, but subject had never happened come before the Selectmen until nday night.

At that time, the Andover Market Elm Square petitioned for a ense to be open and sell food Sundays.

And, it turns out, the Selectmen can not take any action one way or another.

If the store regularly has two employees or less, one of whom is the proprietor, no license is required. That's the verdict of Town Counsel Fredric S. O'Brien.

If there are more than two employees, then any action allowing the store to remain open to sell food must come from the chief of police under another section of the law. But the town counsel doubted whether the sale of food can be permitted under that section - one dealing with work that can not be performed on any other day.

The area of compliance with the law, in regard to Sunday openings, is completely in charge of the police chief, according to the counsel - the Selectmen simply have no authority to issue licenses under the statute explaining the so-called "Sunday law".

Trucks Collided On Lowell St.

A panel truck and a 10-wheel dump truck collided on Lowell st. last Friday night, with inevitable results.

The front end of the panel truck was demolished, and the dump truck appeared to be only slightly damaged on the left front fender.

The operator of the panel truck, identified by police as George D. Bronchellia, 41, 47 S st., Haverhill, was taken to the Lawrence General Hospital by the fire department ambulance. He suffered a right forearm fracture, bruised scalp, and abrasions and contusions of both legs.

The other driver, James G. Marshall, 379 Pleasant st., Tewksbury, said he would see his own doctor.

Police said the dump truck was entering Lowell st. from the Eagle Inn, near Brown st. (formerly Wallaces), and the panel truck was headed east on Lowell st.

Police investigating the accident and handling traffic were Officers Richard Aumais, Laurence Lynch, Warren Maddox and Henry Giaimo. Cars were detoured for some time, as the panel truck blocked Lowell st. The fire department sent one engine, to wash down gasoline spilled over the highway.
